Let's Start!

Get your poker face ready!

Learning Outcome

Accurately use information about directions to places in a limited range of social situations.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about things to do or take on a trip.
- I can talk about intentions and plans.

Ask your partner:

- Do you like to play cards? Why or why not?
- What card games do you know?

Let's Explore!

John and Jasmine talk about the casino. Does Jasmine like to play cards?

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- John: I'm excited to be here! I love going to the casino. Don't you, Jasmine?
- Jasmine: Hmm, I'm not much of a gambler, but I heard that they have good restaurants here.
- John: Restaurants? I'm here to win some money! I'm going to play some poker.
- Jasmine: Good luck with that! I'm going to do some shopping. I think there are some good stores here.
- John: Time to spend those tips, eh?
- Jasmine: Call me if you want to meet for dinner.
- John: Sounds good. Do you have your two-way with you?
- Jasmine: Of course! If you want to meet up earlier, let me know.
- John: If I win big, dinner is on me.
- Jasmine: Roger that! Did you bring your lucky hat?
- John: Of course ... I don't go to a casino without it.

Learning Points

The Zero Conditional

You use the zero conditional to talk about general truths and certainties and to give instructions.

There are two parts to the sentence.

One part is the condition. The other part is the result.

Form:

if or when + subject + the Simple Present tense

You can flip the two parts of the sentence so that the result comes first.

Subject + The Simple Present tense/Imperative + if or when + subject + the Simple Present

Condition	Result
If I win big,	dinner is on me.

Notice that you only need a comma (,) if you say the condition first

Result	Condition
Call me	if you want to meet for dinner.
