

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Pronunciation Spot: John is learning to dance the tango.

Learning Outcome

Accurately use information about travel and vacations in social situations.

Ask your partner:

- Do you like to dance?
- Are you a good dancer?
- Are you a bad dancer? Do you have two left feet?

Can Do Statements

- I can use homonyms like bear and bare.
- I can express negative statements.
- I can identify key information in a short audio.

Let's Explore!

John is learning the tango. Is he a natural?

* Someone who is a "natural" can learn a new skill easily.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

John: So, how do you do this again? Where do my feet go?
Female Partner: Well, first, don't slouch.
John: And keep your hips and feet straight, and shoulders even, right?
Female Partner: Exactly, that's better.
John: Geez, this is harder than it looks.
Female Partner: Well, we just started.
John: I've got two left feet. What time does this lesson end?
Female Partner: Around four. For you ... even four thirty, maybe.
John: Not funny! Can you give me a straight answer?
Female Partner: 4 o'clock. Are you going to book another lesson?
John: Don't be ridiculous! I'm already sweating.
Female Partner: You can't quit now. You have a lot more to learn.
John: Face it. I have no rhythm. I'm taking a break.
Female Partner: Really?
John: I'm going across the street to get a drink. Want anything?
Female Partner: A can of Coke and a new partner.

Let's Practice!

Let's practice some pronunciation.

Instructions: Underline the homonym word in each sentence. Not all the sentences have homonyms. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. The driver turned left and left the main road.
2. The bear can bear the cold weather.
3. A can of Coke and a new partner
4. Keep your hips and feet straight, and shoulders even, right?
5. Around four. For you ... even four thirty, maybe.

Let's Practice!

You can use contractions too.

Instructions: Use the words from the Word Bank to correctly complete the sentences.

Can't / can't Don't / I've

1. _____ got two left feet.
2. _____ you give me a straight answer?
3. _____ be ridiculous!
4. You _____ quit now. You have a lot more to learn.

Extension Activity

Do you have two left feet? It's time to dance.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Research the tango. Look online.
- Write down 10 key points about the dance.
- Teach a partner how to dance the tango by reading the points aloud.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I research the tango online.

☐ ☐

I write 10 key points about the dance.

☐ ☐

I teach a partner how to dance.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to slouch (verb): to stand with the head and shoulders bent forward
e.g. Don't slouch. Stand up straight.
- to have two left feet (expression): to move in a very awkward way when dancing e.g. My dancing partner says I have two left feet.
- hips (noun): the area of your body below your waist where the legs are attached e.g. My hips are sore from all that walking.
- straight (adjective): without a curve or bend
e.g. Sit up straight in the chair.
- sweating (verb): to produce a clear liquid from your skin
e.g. It was so hot that I was sweating.
- rhythm (noun): the beat of music
e.g. Listen to the rhythm of the music.
- to face it (expression): to deal with something directly e.g. Face it. You are a bad dancer.
- even (adverb): emphasizing something surprising
e.g. I even had to practice with my partner for an hour after class.

Learning Points

Contractions (Auxiliary Verb)

You can only make contractions with certain words.

Subject + auxiliary verb

To Be

Long Form	Contraction	Example
I am	I'm	I'm going to the shop.
He is/She is	He's/She's	He's waiting for the bus.
We are/You are	We're/You're	We're leaving tomorrow.

To Have

Long Form	Contraction	Example
I have	I've	I've got a lot of work to do.
He has/She has	He's/She's	He's got a new boyfriend.
We have/They have	We've/They've	We've never been to Paris.

